

Effective Teaching Workshop

This two hour interactive workshop is intended as an introductory session in teaching and learning for doctoral students and faculty in accounting education. It will look at some powerful ideas in teaching and learning as well as the fundamentals of making presentations, running tutorials and seminars, all set within the context of accounting education.

Due to the interactive nature of the workshop, places are limited to forty attendees and pre-registration is required.

The workshop is a collaborative effort of the ACCA, IAAER and Oxford Brookes University and funding for this is kindly provided by the ACCA.
