

IAAER Activities

Professor Leslie Hodder appointed IAAER representative on the IFRS Advisory Council

The Trustees of the IFRS Foundation, responsible for the oversight and governance of the IASB, have confirmed the appointment of Professor Leslie Hodder (Indiana University, Kelley School of Business, USA) to the IFRS Advisory Council. The appointments takes effect on January 1, 2020 and is for a three-year period.

The Council advises the IFRS Foundation Trustees and the Board on strategic and technical matters. It consists of representatives from over 40 groups that are affected by and interested in international financial reporting, including academics, analysts, auditors, investors, preparers, professional accounting bodies, regulators and standard-setters. The Council membership is held by the organization concerned, and not its individual representative.

Informing the IASB Standard Setting Process: IAAER – KPMG Research Opportunities – Round 7

The International Association for Accounting Education and Research (IAAER), the KPMG Foundation, and KPMG Global Services Group are pleased to invite research proposals under the Informing the IASB Standard Setting Process Research Program. The program supports scholarly research that is intended to provide objective, evidence-based inputs to the IASB's decision process on any current agenda item. Up to five research grants of $US 25,000 each will be awarded under this program. Funded projects will be presented at three events that will also include representatives from the IASB. Funding for this program has been provided by the KPMG Foundation and KPMG Global Services Group. The full call for proposals is available here. Contact Donna Street at dstreet1@udayton.edu for more information. The proposal submission deadline is February 17, 2020.

IFAC's new approach to advancing accountancy education

IFAC has a new approach to advancing accounting education. The new approach involves the formation of an International Accountancy Education Panel (IPAE). The panel comprises members from various professional backgrounds (including Professional Accounting Organizations, Accounting firms and Academics) and regions (including North America, Europe, Asia, Africa/Middle East, Latin America and Oceania). IAAER has observer status on the IPAE. To raise awareness of the International Education Standards and IFAC's approach to advancing accountancy education, a video is available for distribution here.

In October 2019 the International Accounting Education Standards Board (IAESB) released four revised International Education Standards (IESs) addressing learning and development for information and communications technologies (ICT) and professional skepticism. The revised education standards are available here.

Research funding and grants

2nd IPSASB Research Forum, Hosted by the CIGAR Workshop 2020 in Oslo (Norway), 7 June 2020

IPSASB is offering grants of USD 1,500 for research on a number of specified topics. The grant recipients, as well as other scholars, will present the first drafts of their full papers at the 2020 Research Forum, in order to receive feedback from fellow academics, IPSASB members and staff. Grant recipients are then expected to finalize their paper by 8 September 2020 and to present it in the week of 15 September 2020 at the IPSAS Board Meeting in Paris, France. Final papers are invited to be published in Public Money & Management, after undergoing a formal peer review process, involving one reviewer from CIGAR and one from IPSASB. Submissions are due on December 15, 2019. For further information please view the Call for Papers here.

IMA Research Foundation Incubator Grant

The IMA Research Foundation is committed to developing the management accounting researchers of tomorrow. They recognize that it can be difficult for less-experienced researchers to obtain funding through traditional channels. They also know that it can be hard to fully evaluate the merits and feasibility of a research idea, without first undertaking preliminary investigations. Their current Incubator Grant Call for Submissions is open until January 31, 2020. For further information please view the Call for Papers here.

IMA Academic Research Grant Program

IMA encourages submission of innovative research proposals in the area of accounting and finance by both academics and practitioners. The proposals should clearly communicate the purpose and scope of the proposed research project and how it relates to primary management accounting activities such as decision support, planning, and control. For further information please view the program brochure here.

IMA Research Foundation Outstanding Scholars Awards Program

The IMA Research Foundation (IRF) has established the IMA Scholars Awards Program to recognize the accomplishments of outstanding management accounting researchers. The IMA Research Foundation will accept nomination for these awards from September 1, 2019 through January 31, 2020. Nominations may be submitted by the individual candidate, by a peer, or by a member of the IMA Research Foundation's Awards Committee. For further information please view the award brochure here.

IMA Doctoral Scholars Program

The goal of this program is to increase the number of professors who teach and research in management accounting. The program will provide support for students at various stages in their doctoral education in accredited programs, enabling them to work on research that will advance management accounting research and practice. Management accounting scholars will go on to teach and mentor the next generation of students and help advance the future of management accounting research and the profession. For further information please view the program leaflet here.

ICAS Calls for Research Proposals

Following ICAS' now closed summer 2019 calls for research on Intangibles and Technology, the Research Centre is committed to providing funding for policy-relevant impactful research on those topics. Further related calls will be issued in 2020.

ICAS continues to welcome pro-active applications for research projects primarily relevant to the accounting profession. ICAS will however also support projects which will consider impacts on other activities and professions. Likewise, research teams do not need to be solely composed of accounting academics, with multi-disciplinary teams encouraged, and ICAS welcomes all research methods. For further information visit the ICAS website here.
